welcome

“ It is my pleasure to welcome you to Erotica 2006. To our 14th UK show we have gathered over 150 exhibitors – artisans to corsetières, silversmiths to toy makers – with a veritable treasure trove of products to inspire and delight. Where better to buy gorgeous gifts for that special person in your life – or to treat yourself? To entertain you, we have flown in the undisputed Queen of Burlesque, Dita Von Teese from Los Angeles, The Tiffany Show from Thailand and two gorgeous male dance troupes – The Dream Boys and The Fantasy Boys. (If I've learnt nothing else – it's that you have to please the ladies!) I hope you enjoy the show.

I would personally like to thank the public and the trade for their support in the last ten years. It is now time for me to pass the reigns on, for family reasons, and so I leave you in the capable hands of my successor, Richard Thompson. I do hope you will continue to enjoy the show and to work with and profit from Erotica Ltd. I wish you all a fond farewell.”

editor's letter

“ Welcome to The Erotica Showguide 2006 and to our cherry pickings of the many thousands of products on offer at our exhibition. Fashion's gone feminine and retro this season with the return of big, beautiful suspender belts and '50s-style seamed and heeled stockings. You'll no doubt need new heels to show those to best advantage, girls, a new corset to attach said stockings to and a fur-trimmed jacket or wrap to get you to the party... Yes, yes, we can do all of these and more.

If shopping wears you out, grab a coffee and enjoy our articles: let me tell you about the fascinating history of the garter; while Stephen Van Scoyoc muses about the timeless power play between the sexes, and Mary McMillan Sloan puts her tongue firmly in her cheek with some Essential Basic Phrases for the Sex Tourist. Or take us to bed when you get home – for now you have some serious shopping to do... ”

Burlesque sensation and vintage pin-up star, DITA VON TEESE tops the bill at Erotica 2006 with her signature Martini Glass and Feather Fan Dance routines - at selected shows each day.

Dita normally performs only at celebrity parties and private venues - her live public performances are rare. Last month she appeared at Crazy Horse Paris becoming the first guest star ever to perform at the 50-year old cabaret venue - and almost certainly the first to perform on stage in a sparkling roll top bath. It is almost a decade since Dita's first performance at Erotica - don't miss her today!

Terrence Higgins Trust

Erotica announce Terrence Higgins Trust as charity partner

Erotica 2006 has signed the Terrence Higgins Trust (THT) as its flagship charity partner for this year's show at Olympia. Terrence Higgins Trust is the leading HIV and AIDS charity in the UK, and the largest in Europe.

Erotica 2006 is promoting a core message of safe and respectful sex and deems it essential to have a high profile charity on board to show how seriously it takes this message. Erotica is also keen to adopt a corporate social responsibility culture and hopes to generate significant donations for THT throughout the partnership which runs from September until the end of the year.

As part of the agreement, the THT logo features on all of Erotica 2006 outdoor and tube advertising, its involvement with the show has been promoted on Virgin Radio (the show's official media partner) and THT is holding a collection throughout the show.

Speaking about the partnership, Erotica's Brand Marketing Manager Tracey Farrow said, "Terrence Higgins Trust is a well known and respected HIV and sexual health charity and was an obvious choice to work with as its core objective is to promote good sexual health. THT's brand presence will enable it to gain significant donations and profile whilst allowing Erotica to demonstrate how seriously it takes the safe and respectful sex message. We want people to have fun in their sex lives but safe sex is paramount."

(Registered charity no. 288527)

Tracey Carter, Head of Corporate and Trust Fundraising at THT adds, "The Erotica event, with its safer sex message and emphasis on respect for yourself and your partner, is very much in line with THT's approach to sexual health and relationships. We're pleased to have the opportunity to raise awareness of THT and vital funds to support our work." Find out about THT at: www.tht.org.uk

Virgin Radio

Calling All Virgins

Erotica were delighted to have Virgin Radio as our media partner in the run up to this year's show. In our drive to recruit 'Erotica Virgins' Virgin Radio promoted Erotica during their popular 'Geoff Show' – particularly in the Dirty Book at Bedtime segment which featured erotic readings from books sent in by listeners from 10pm Mondays to Thursdays. Listeners who tuned in could win free tickets to Erotica.

Speaking about the partnership, Erotica 2006 Brand Marketing Manager Tracey Farrow says: "Virgin Radio is the perfect station to make the subject of sex and sexuality approachable. With the station's demographics on the rise, their reach and target audience is completely aligned with Erotica 2006."

Race For Life

Getting Sweaty for Charity

On Saturday 8th July, Team Erotica broke sweat to raise money for a good cause. The charity of choice was Cancer Research UK, whose Race for Life events are held all across the UK.

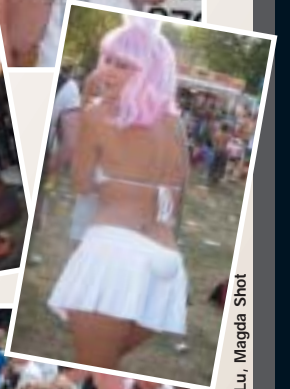

Representing Team Erotica were Tracey (right), our Brand Marketing Manager, and Susanna and Carol our PR gurus from Limelight PR. Team Erotica completed a 5km run at London's Regent's Park, raising an impressive £3100! The girls would like to say thank you very much to all their sponsors.

The UK's leading cancer charity, Cancer Research UK has a dedicated team of 3,000 scientists and an annual scientific spend of around £213 million. Its funds are raised almost entirely through voluntary donations. ## Pride & Joy

EuroPride Festival, London

An impressive 600,000 people came together to celebrate Pride in London on Saturday 1st July. Hosted by a different European city each year, EuroPride is a premier gay, lesbian, bisexual, transgender and cultural festival that strives towards achieving equality.

Last year the UK introduced civil partnerships which, together with the repeal of Section 28, same-sex adoption and equal age of consent, represents a further step on the road towards a fairer society. But with some way still to go, Pride London is committed to tackling bullying, discrimination and homophobic issues.

To demonstrate our support Team Erotica drove our topless Erotica Bus to the heart of the festivities in Soho Square. There, kitted out in tu-tus and armed with Erotica merchandise and thousands of goody bags, we had a fabulous time. The day was a scorcher and the energy exceptional. Some of us hit the dance floor to share the love and enjoy the pumping music. We did not want the day to end!

Pride in Brighton & Hove

So on Saturday 5th August we boarded our topless bus again and headed for the seaside to Pride in Brighton and Hove. Preston Park played host to this annual free summer festival bringing thousands of people together for hours and hours of fun and entertainment.

For those of you who don't know, Pride in Brighton & Hove promotes equality and diversity and advances education to eliminate discrimination against the Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual and Transgender (LGBT) community. Once again, Team Erotica had a fabulous time mingling and giving away over 6000 Erotica Goody Bags.

We wanted to take the time to say a huge thank you to everyone who came to say hello and show such positive support for the Erotica brand and our mission to raise awareness of and encourage safe sex and respect - you guys made Pride an absolute pleasure for us. Check the gallery on Erotica's website to see the great pictures we took - a testament to the great time had by all. ● Jane Lu

Pucker Up

Safe Sex Initiative Launched on National Kissing Day

National Kissing Day on 6th July was chosen to launch Erotica's initiative to raise awareness of safer sex. On that night 40,000 Erotica branded condoms were distributed in leading night clubs around the country.

The club promotion was launched off the back of a recent report from the Department of Health that revealed a three per cent rise in cases of sexual infections last year - the most at risk group being of clubbing age.

Speaking about the initiative, Brand Marketing Manager Tracey Farrow says, "The rise of teenage pregnancies, STIs and unprotected sex in UK has reached a disturbing all-time high and we, at Erotica 2006, want to communicate safe and respectful sex. The focus of the show this year is to shake preconceptions and demonstrate that sex is anything but sleazy. We want to promote safe and respectful sex while encouraging visitors to introduce more fun, intimacy and spice into their love lives. The launch of our new website reflects this ethos". ● by Limelight PR ● www.erotica2006.com

the garter

The word 'garter' today conjures for most people two opposing images. On the one hand a bride dressed in voluptuous layers of virginal white, and on the other a scantily-clad erotic dancer gyrating close enough to her audience for them to slip money beneath her garter (for lack of anywhere else to put it!). If we delve back through time we find that these two extremes have much in common. For the garter – this tiniest slip of feminine apparel – encircles a most fascinating secret.

Elastic is a modern invention. Traditional garters were long strips of cloth or leather that were tied around the leg or buckled, either above or below the knee, to hold up one's stockings. They were worn by both sexes in days when stockings were the norm – but a woman's garter has long been held to have magical properties.

a betrothal gift

In England in the fourteenth century, a man declared his intentions to his sweetheart with the gift of a garter. Symbolising the lady's virginity and betrothal, the garter was worn at the marriage ceremony and later removed by the groom and passed to the required witnesses, waiting by the foot of the bed, to show to the wider wedding party as proof that the marriage had been consummated. Drunken guests occasionally disturbed the proceedings in an attempt to obtain the magical garter, or a piece of the bride's dress which was also considered lucky and so was often ripped to pieces. Far from merely a 'throw away' tradition, the tossing of the garter evolved to protect the privacy of the bride and groom on their wedding night.

the order of the garter

The oldest and highest order of knighthood, The Most Noble Order of the Garter, was founded by King Edward III in 1348. The story goes, that while dancing at a ball in Calais in France, the young Countess of Salisbury, a favourite of the kings, accidentally dropped her garter on

*'Something old, something new,
Something borrowed, something blue.
And a silver sixpence in your shoe'*

pagan wedding customs

Something old, something new... so goes the rhyme of what a bride must have on her wedding day to bring her luck. Although this rhyme is Victorian, these, and other wedding customs have roots that are much older.

● SOMETHING OLD

The 'something old' referred to in the rhyme above, was often represented by an old garter, given to the bride by an older, happily married woman in the hope that it would pass on similar joy to the new relationship. This in turn may have stemmed from the pagan tradition of a retiring priestess giving (some believe 'tossing') her garter to her successor. In this sense the garter also symbolises the passing of a sacred feminine knowledge

icon

“Garter - n.: An elastic band intended to keep a woman from coming out of her stockings and desolating the country.” Ambrose Bierce (American writer, journalist and editor, 1842-1914)

the dancefloor and was overcome with confusion. Galant King Edward scooped up the garter and tied it to his own leg, uttering the words, 'Honi soit qui mal y pense' or 'Shame to those who think evil of it' (which became the motto of the Order).

The lady's embarrassment was caused, not by a fashion faux pas, but because the garter was a badge of rank for a high priestess of the old religion. At that time the Roman Catholic church's persecution of heretics and witches was well under way and this public revelation placed the Countess in grave danger.

King Edward's public demonstration of protection was reinforced by his swift formation of an order of 24 Knights – 12 knights headed by the King himself and 12 knights headed by his son, The Black Prince. Modelled on King Arthur's Round Table, the Order took chivalry to heart, promising to protect and do honour to ladies. Reflecting a pagan order in number – 12 members plus one leader or god, Edward effectively created two symbolic royal covens (13 x 2 being the number of a grand coven) and placed himself in the position of God incarnate. Whether Edward's intention was to garner popular support among his pagan subjects, or to make a stand against the Catholic church – or both – is open to debate.

Today the Queen and The Prince of Wales head the Order and the Garter appears on their respective coats of arms. Garter Knights and Ladies are chosen by the Queen to honour their service in public office. Many have served as Prime Minister including: Sir Winston Churchill, Sir Edward Heath, Sir Harold Wilson, Sir John Major and Baroness Thatcher. The core members are restricted to 24, but most of the immediate Royal Family have been admitted to the Order as 'Royal Knights or Ladies' and foreign Kings, such as Juan Carlos of Spain and Harald V of Norway are admitted as 'Stranger Knights'.

There have been strong associations between the Order and Freemasonry. Queen Victoria's third son; Prince Arthur, was a Knight of the Garter who also served as Grand Master of the United Grand Lodge of England for many years. I wonder how many of today's from one generation to the next.

● SOMETHING NEW

A little something bought specially to symbolise the couple's new life together.

● SOMETHING BORROWED

Usually something of value from the bride's family – this must be returned after the wedding to ensure the couple's prosperity.

● SOMETHING BLUE

This custom dates back to ancient Israel where brides wore blue ribbons in their hair to represent their fidelity.

● THE VEIL

In Roman times it was believed that a young bride was vulnerable prey for malevolent spirits. So the bride wore a veil as a disguise and she and her bridesmaids wore similar dresses to confuse any evil intentions.

● CONFETTI

In Italy it is traditional to throw sweets (confetti) over newlyweds. In Britain rice or seeds were thrown in the hope the couple would always eat well. "May you never hunger" is still a popular pagan blessing.

CLUBS out & club seen about

Club R.U.B. is an established monthly, Saturday night fetish club open from 10.30pm till 5am. It's a great starting point for people who want their first fetish club experience as it is so friendly. Located at Dukes in Houndsditch, EC3 – half way between Aldgate and Liverpool Street Stations in the City. Parking is easy – earlybirds get best positions.

A dance based fetish club, Club R.U.B. offers sexy house and uplifting tunes from two of the best DJs on the scene Peter Andrews (Irish Pete) and Rob Parish. No other club offers this combination of sexy pumping house in a fetish environment.

Dungeon Managers Dave and Annie of www.playpenz.co.uk have, over the years, perfected a system of managing players and voyeurs in the dungeon area with a code of manners and respect.

Club R.U.B. is known for its themes. Recent ones have included Uniforms, Medical, Cowboys & Indians, Black & White, Tartan & Kilts – R.U.B. aims to offer themes that are easy for the guys to join in with. Remember Club R.U.B. is first and foremost a fetish club. You must wear fetish dress code/clothing to gain entry. Rubber, leather, PVC, transparent, TV, full uniform (inc. hat) or totally O.T.T. ## How to Survive in Stilettos!

There's no substitute for a pair of obscenely high killer heels – and we're not talking about 3" or 4" heels, nor platforms, block heels or wedges – but pure spiky Stilettos. Whether you wear them or just admire them; stiletto heels are an iconic image. The steeper the heel, the more empowered you'll feel. If you're prepared to accept at least 5" (in heels that is!) here's my guide to remaining standing.

Size is all-important. If you have small feet, shoe size 4 or 5 say, 5" heels may be your limit. But if you are a size 6 or over, a 6" heel is possible. With heels this high you will probably need to buy a half size or possibly a size larger than you normally wear.

It's not the pain and discomfort that governs your maximum heel height – it's a matter of balance. Without trying to compensate (contort yourself) your natural centre of gravity needs to be within the 'footprint' of the shoe – or you'll fall over just standing still.

If you're not used to extremely high heels – then build up your confidence (and height) at home over short periods. I simply love 6" heels, but there are pros and cons to the different styles when it comes to stepping out in them for a whole day.

Let's start with strappy sandals – these are my favourite style. With any mini dress, strappy 5" or 6" heels epitomise summer sexiness or party girl – but at a price. Heels on stiletto sandals tend to have a springing flexibility that makes it difficult to maintain your balance and poise. When walking you can feel the sole and heel literally springing back. After a few hours you tend to lose stability. This is a slow progressive feeling, as is the pain of the thin straps cutting in! To survive long spells without changing heels, look for sandals with a slight platform – just 1/2" (10mm) is all that is needed. This reduces much of the springing effect in the heel. Look for straps that are wide enough to comfortably secure without cutting in. And consider styles of sandals that have a little more body – an enclosed toe perhaps.

The sensual effect of easing yourself into boots and fastening them up gives a tremendous feeling of support and comfort – and

throbbin' hoods

New from Club R.U.B.: www.hoodlovers.com – a members website devoted to hoods, masks and headwear. Updated with new photos, videos, interviews and stories each month the hoodlovers galleries feature hundreds of shots by well known photographers, club photos, members photos plus exclusive photo and video shoots. Featured photographers will include Trevor Watson and Jerry Kohler. Already on the site are Mark Bennett's Torture Garden photos and Jan's extensive R.U.B. catalogue. Regular articles and interviews feature models like Strap-on Jane and Vanessa Upton and professional Mistresses who wear hoods, like Mistress Vanessa and Mistress Katya. If you love hoods talk to Kim at Club R.U.B. Stand A2 stiletto boots are incredibly sexy to wear. But their support can be short lived, as after a few hours you suddenly find your ankles giving way. I think at first your ankles compensate until they tire. So make sure boots fit perfectly and don't distort your natural poise. High high boots can become a little wearing on your knees if you need to keep sitting down. (As if an excuse was needed to stay standing upright and showing off your deadly heels.)

Strappy stiletto shoes or court shoes are my answer. Extremely sexy but with more support and less 'spring' than sandals. Team them with a micro mini skirt to give power dressing a whole new outlook – for me my perfect uniform. I find tights are best with these heels and a design with an ankle strap helps stability enormously. Based upon the success of these – I have also tried sling backs, but these only work when you are bare-legged.

My key points to look out for: – keep within your balance; choose wide straps; avoid the springing effect and anything that pinches around your toes. For court shoes, tights or stockings can help avoid any rubbing, but you may find your foot sliding down the sole making the pressure on your toes more painful. Don't teeter before you can walk – work up in heel size. If you're entirely new to heels start with 4" or 4½" before venturing higher.

Okay, you've got the heels and the attitude (altitude). Take controlled steps – do not just teeter. Avoid uneven surfaces. Beware of shiny, slippery floors. Walk slowly, in deliberate short strides, one foot in line in front of the other – imagine you are

for serious players

People have some funny ideas about bondage, discipline and sadomasochism (BDSM). It's the giving and receiving of pain that they find scary. What's important to remember is that BDSM relationships are built on trust. Masters, mistresses (dominants) and their slaves (submissives) agree to conduct within certain limits. They have safe words to indicate when a sub has reached their pain threshold or wants to stop. Contrary to the beliefs of the uninitiated, it's actually the sub who has the last say. Experienced doms give intense pleasure to subs and vice versa –

bdsM... a beginners guide

There are many approaches to exploring BDSM. Commonly, submissive men rent a sex shop dvd and show it to their partner to gauge reaction. Probably the least successful approach, this often leads to mixed responses and confusion. The most successful approach is often the simplest. At a time when you are both relaxed, sober and in the mood, try adding a blindfold, silk ties or some light sensation play to your foreplay. Then talk about it. Find out if your partner enjoyed it, and if so, gently suggest adding to the fantasy. Once you have broken the ice and dispelled initial nerves then together you can consider developing the BDSM aspect further.

Do you feel drawn to, or more comfortable in, a particular role? If you're not sure, start out with clear roles – one dominant and one submissive. You may decide that you each enjoy both roles, commonly known as switching. Discuss what interests you and also define your limits. Build trust by avoiding what you don't like or your partner isn't comfortable with in your early scenes – it's likely to put one or both of you off and breaches the guiding rule of BDSM: safe, sane and consensual. Many couples wear collars, rings or particular outfits to signify their roles while role playing. This clearly separates the actions from everyday life and adds to the fantasy. Remember to hug after

power game

Men and women in our culture like to profess their independence while, at the same time, our culture seems obsessed with mass-production, square holes, and general sameness. Women should be a size 10 and men should look a "certain" way in their Calvin Klein underwear. The trouble is we — both men and women — were not stamped out with some cosmic cookie cutter. Mere calculus doesn't define who we are.

Talk of "equality" of the sexes will nearly always come down to the size of a pay cheque — a mathematical equation — and the height of the glass ceiling. I'll be the first to admit that women deserve the same pay and that for every tie on the board there should be something a little more creative. There is work and there is play. I'm talking about play here.

What about "equality" in play? There are much more interesting things to measure when researching the equality of the sexes, but our tools aren't really up to the task. For example, how do you measure a woman who collapses to the floor in the throes of orgasm simply by having her ears stroked? And who can define what it is that makes a man dress up like Little Bo Peep and be so turned on he blows smoke like a furnace? A woman can happily simmer for hours under the caresses of a man — or a woman — or both and be intoxicated beyond reason with pleasure. She can lose count of her orgasms — if she was counting in the first place. A man, in the same predicament, is more likely to be like a mongrel who has just nicked a steak from the grill. It may burn his lips and he may be punished later, but he wolfs it down in just a few energetic gulps and is satisfied. He manages a few guilty looks about before finding a warm place and curling up to sleep.

Some say "equality" has gone too far. I say there is no such thing as equality between men and women. Men never stood a chance. Women are the superior of the sexes in ways that no law or government will ever tame. A little honesty here. At closing time in the pub or club, any woman who wants to be escorted out for a casual intimate encounter will be. Most men seeking the same will end up prowling the streets in packs, howling at the moon, and eating kebabs on the street corner. One can almost forgive men for being imbeciles, they are driven to it out of desperation. A man craves a woman more than life itself and yet, at the same time, he is terrified of her. Her capacity for pleasure is so great that he worries he will be enough to keep her satisfied. And, unlike most men, women are very attractive. He wonders as she goes out, is that lacy, black bra peeking between her buttons for him upon her return? Or is it to keep other men interested? She's not telling.

It's a game between the sexes and it's all for fun. Our culture is restrained with rules tighter than any leather corset. We call ourselves a "land of the law", but this game that we're here to play this weekend doesn't have any rules — not many anyway. Look around yourself at Erotica. It's a game, but the woman is winning even if she is wearing a collar and being led around by her "man". Talk about confidence. Talk about power. We men might shrug on a pair of leather trousers — thinking that's really bold — while a woman will either choose to wear the bare legal minimum or go the outrageous Dita Von Teese route. A woman who wears a suit to work every day will strip every stitch off at a lingerie stand, surrounded by hundreds of onlookers and using her partner as a clothes horse, while he looks on in stunned surprise. The women are at Erotica dressed to kill or thrill or both.

It does seem a little odd to think that men and women are playing different games with different moves and different scores on the very same playground and yet both are having the time of their lives. There will always be those who walk by Olympia in November, imagining the debauchery that must be going on inside, and cluck-clucking to themselves at the parade of playfully dressed people, but I always think that the men and women who are focussed on pleasing themselves and their partners aren't likely to be harming anyone. And, as different and unequal as men

essential basic phrases

Darlings, if the eco-lobby has its way and the cost of flying soars then our days of affordable Adult Sex Tourism are numbered. Increased scrutiny at airports is also causing embarrassing baggage-search incidents involving sex toys, masks and exploding lube. I myself suffered the indignity of having my love-balls removed while passing through customs en route to a recent Stalking Weekend in Paris.

The fact that I enjoyed being fisted by a government official is irrelevant (don't all rush out and try this at once or they will catch on!) Our civil liberties are being infringed upon.

With these impending sanctions in mind I have decided to share my own essential basic guide to making my intentions understood in bars and clubs across continents. If we are going to be grounded by pessimists then we must consider the bigger picture and make mayhem whilst the fuel still burns!

You are likely going to be shouting these phrases above loud music or sweating and trembling with excitement, so the easier the better. They are in English, Spanish and French because I find that those three languages are sufficient for the kind of returns I'm looking for whether I'm in America, Africa or Europe. Trying them out before you travel will increase your chances of sounding spontaneous and excited, which is always preferable in intimate situations. For maximum effect practise these phrases till word perfect whilst sitting in front of a large mirror and co-ordinating them with your body language.

Here are some basic Spanish phrases I found handy to get me level with my school French.

If you like a guy:

Muy Guapo - Very handsome
Cuanto dinero trae? - How much money have you got?
Sirvese - Help yourself!
No entiendo - I don't understand
Que? - What?
Que es eso? - What's That?
Me gusta - I like it!
Es Bonito - It's beautiful
Es grande - It's big
Esta bien - That's alright
De nada - Don't mention it
Muchas gracias por su ayuda - Thanks for your help
Adios caballeros - Good-bye gentlemen

If you are approached by a hound:

Perdone - Sorry!
No tocar - Do not touch
No me gusta - I don't like it!
Prohibido el paso - No entry!
Que dice? - I beg your pardon?
Marchese - Go away

If you change your mind mid-performance you may find these phrases, when accompanied by an appropriately OTT facial gesture, useful in facilitating a swift withdrawal from the proceedings:

Cuanto tiempo tardara? - How long will you be?
Dese prisa, por favour - Can you hurry please!

A few extras for the boys:

Olla bonita, esta este asiento libre? - Hello gorgeous, is this seat taken?
Viajan j untos? - Are you together?
Tienes plan esta noche? - You doing anything tonight?
A cuanto esta la libra? - How much do I get for a pound?
Solo una noche? - Is it for one night only?
Cambian cheques de viajero? - Do you cash travellers cheques?
Enseneme a usar... - Can you show me how to use...
Molesto? - Am I disturbing you?
La camarera, por favour - Please send the chambermaid.
Cuanto le debo? - How much do I owe you?

Now you have grasped my Spanish basics you can practise some of my favourite tri-lingual chat up lines.

English: Spank me through rubber please.
French: Sil vous plait donnez- une fesséemoi cependant le caoutchouc.
Spanish: Azóteme sin embargo caucho por favor.

English: Tie me up and bite me.
French: Attachez-moi et mordez-moi.
Spanish: Áteme para arriba y muérdame.

English: Must I whip you first?
French: Est-ce que je dois vous fouetter d'abord?
Spanish: Debo azotarle primero?

English: Come up and see me sometime, big boy.
French: Montent et me voient autrefois, mon grand garçon.
Spanish: Viene para arriba y me ve alguna vez, el muchacho grande.

English: Blow me hard and I'll make it worth your while.

French: Soufflez-moi dur et je le ferai en valeur votre moment.

Spanish: Sópleme duro y lo haré digno de su rato.

I hope you never have to use the following phrases, but it is good to be prepared for every eventuality:

English: How dare you ejaculate before me, pig!

French: Vous ne devez pas éjaculer avant moi, vous porc!

Spanish: Usted no debe ejaculate antes de mí, usted cerdo!

English: For god's sake just get on with it!

French: Dans l'intérêt d'un dieu faites-juste le !

Spanish: Para el motivo del dios apenas hágalo!

English: All talk and no trousers.

French: Tout l'entretien et aucun pantalon.

Spanish: Toda la charla y ningunos pantalones.

English: A little less conversation, a little more action please.

French: Moins de conversation, peu plus d'action svp.

Spanish: Poco una menos conversación, una poco más acción por favor.

English: If I agree to have sex with you I have to be on top because I am scared that you shall crush me.

French: Si j'accepte d'avoir le sexe avec vous je doivent être sur le dessus parce qu'on m'effraye que vous m'écraserez.

Spanish: Si acuerdo tener sexo con usted yo tienen que estar en tapa porque me asustan que usted me machacará.

In order to reduce the risks of substandard sex, you may want to remember these phrases and avoid people that use them:

English: I may not be the best looking man in here, but I'm the only one talking to you.

French: Je ne peux pas être le meilleur homme regardant dedans ici, mais je suis le seul vous parlant.

Spanish: No puedo ser el mejor hombre que mira adentro aquí, sino que soy el único que habla con usted.

English: Let's go to my place and do the things I'll tell everyone we did anyway.

French: Partons à mon endroit et faisons les choses que je vais dire que nous faisons de toute façon.

Spanish: Vayamos a mi lugar y hacer las cosas diré cada uno que lo hicimos de todos modos.

Viene para arriba y me ve alguna vez, el

CE SOIR?

English: My name's..... That's so you know what to scream.

French: Mon nom est..... C'est ainsi vous savez quoi crier.

Spanish: Mi nombre es..... Eso es así que usted sabe qué gritar.

English: Wanna get it on tonight?

French: Voulez vous coucher avec moi ce soir?

Spanish: Desea una cogida esta noche?

English: Do you believe in love at first sight, or must I walk past you again?

French: Vous croyez à première vue à l'amour, ou à la nécessité que je vous passe encore?

Spanish: Usted cree a primera vista en amor, o necesidad que le paso otra vez?

In the event that the advances on offer disgust you, try dissuading your paramour with these rejections, designed to deflate his ardour.

English: I have only just had my intestines replaced but thanks for the offer.

French: Je seulement ai juste eu mes intestins remplacés mais merci de l'offre.

Spanish: Acabo de tener solamente mis intestinos substituidos pero gracias por la oferta.

English: I'm not interested but my grandmother might be.

French: Je ne suis pas intéressé mais mon grand-mère pourrait être.

Spanish: No estoy interesado pero mi abuela pudo ser.

English: OK. It's probably not contagious anyway!

French: OK. Il n'est probablement pas contagieux de toute façon!

Spanish: OK. No es probablemente contagioso, de todas formas.

English: I cannot have sex with you because we are not married yet.

French: Je ne peux pas avoir le sexe avec vous parce que nous non mariés encore.

Spanish: No puedo tener sexo con usted porque nosotros no casados todavía hagámoslo.

Never forget that delivery is everything. You may be screaming, "Stop dribbling on my crotch" as you kneel him in the balls/poke her in the eyes, but this could well be misconstrued as foreplay unless you leave no room for doubt. (If that was intended as foreplay, you must have the right kind of glint in your eye and look encouraging.)

Hopefully you now feel confident enough to go forth and reap the cultural benefits of this study time by expanding your sexual repertoire across the globe before being confined to playing at home. But one last word of advice, leave the sex toys and gadgets at home for now – trust me – unless you are into abject humiliation (and I'm sure some of you are) you may lose your prize collection in a security debacle and have to start from scratch when you return. I still have nightmares about my luggage being detonated in a controlled explosion at Gatwick Airport.

Bon Voyages!

essential safety kit

C ondoms, lube, plane ticket, condoms, passport – and don't forget the condoms! If you are a sex tourist – even if you travel only as far as the bars and nightclubs of your home town – always play safe. Sexually Transmitted Infections (STIs) are on the rise, and rising fastest among the clubbing generation. Don't become a statistic. Stock up at:

sex sense

GUIDELINES FOR NEW LIAISONS

- Know your facts – check the web for safer sex practices. Many AIDS information sites give excellent advice on the proper use of condoms and lubricants and protection against STIs generally.
- Restrict yourself to one sexual partner at a time.
- Use condoms for the first three months. (In 95 per cent of cases, the HIV virus shows up in tests within this time).
- Then both visit a clinic for AIDS and STI tests. Show each other the results. If all is clear, goodbye condoms (contraception and other sexual partners aside!)

- If your partner won't comply, he or she wasn't going to hang around for three months anyway – headache saved.
- If you or your partner are not disease free, or if you are not sure, continue to wear condoms. This applies for oral sex too (try flavoured) as AIDS and other STIs can be transmitted orally. You should investigate using dental dams and latex gloves.
- Be doubly sure. After sex, carefully remove your condom and run water into it to check for any tears or holes.

condom checklist

- Choose latex condoms that carry the European standard CE mark and/or preferably the Kitemark (conforms to British Standard EN600 – a more reliable standard) and non-spermicidal lubricant. Avoid novelty condoms.
- Condoms keep for about four years if unopened and stored in cool, dark, dry conditions. Buy date-stamped brands.
- Always use water-based or silicone-based lubes with latex condoms. Oil-based lubes damage latex – condoms and diaphragms. (Some medicated creams for thrush are oil-based which can affect condoms' effectiveness.)

- If you have experienced physical problems with latex condoms you may have been reacting to the spermicide nonoxynol-9. Reputable brands should no longer be using this chemical in their lubricant since evidence emerged in 2000 that nonoxynol-9 may facilitate HIV transmission. Non-spermicidal condoms may still contain other water-based lubricants such as sensitol.
- If you are allergic to latex/rubber try 'Durex Avanti' or the female condom 'Femidom' both made of polyurethane plastic. (Never use a female and a male condom together. Friction may

To Pucker Up with this vibrating pump, place the cup comfortably around the clitoris and vaginal lips, squeeze the bulb to create a vacuum, then simply release the air pipe and enjoy the vibrations. Hmmm! £30 sextoys.co.uk

Trirelessly we have toiled in our quest to find you the cream of this year's sex toys. After careful deliberation, and exhaustive testing we were most impressed with this selection: rechargeable toys (always at the ready); Smartballs that massage and work your PC muscles while you walk (no, it's not cheating - it's toning!); soft-touch vibes that are designed for people who actually know where your G-spot lies; and The Cone - great for when you're a man short (or have a short man?) and just fancy doing it for yourself. Playtime was never so good... ●

Right: Smartballs - a modern version of love eggs - when inserted in the vagina, provide a gentle erotic massage while simultaneously working your pelvic floor muscles. £15 sensualessentials.com

'man short' toys

Truly innovative, the makers of The Cone have turned vibrator design on its head by creating a heavy, powerful vibrator that stays put while you squirm around on it! The hands-free design has 16 automated programmes of pulsation and escalation, and an orgasm button for the impatient. And just in case the funky styling leaves you wondering, there is a helpful chart of suggested positions on the box to get you started. This gets our vote for most innovative toy of the year. Below: The EBox Series 1 is a sex toy that stimulates with electrical pulses (think 'tens' machine). Connect an electrode to the unit to experience sensations which can include tingling, buzzing, throbbing, burning and prickling. The Veriprobe, shown below, designed to be inserted into the vagina, was originally developed for medical use to help re-educate the pelvic floor muscles. The Series 1 provides the power – you control the levels of pulsation and intensity. A sophisticated digital timing system operates in three modes to offer a range of pleasurable sensations: Burst (a burst of pulses), Continuous (a continuous stream of micro pulses) and Manual mode (the unit only responds when the Fire button is pressed). Some people find the continuous mode drives them wild, others prefer the hard thrust of the pulse burst. Check the Estim website for a unit that responds to music and voice and a range of insertible and surface electrodes.

Left: The Nexus Nero and The Nexus Glide are Male G-Spot Massagers designed to stimulate the prostate gland and bring a man longer and more powerful orgasms. Voted best sex toy in Europe, the Nero is definitely to try for the more adventurous guy. The Nexus Glide (far left) is the latest addition to the Nexus range.

Ridges add extra sensations and the stainless steel 'rollerball' technology (patent pending) glides over the perineum (the outer access area for the male G-spot, or prostate) creating 'licking' sensations. This is perfect for newcomers to anal play since it has a narrower girth than the Nero, but neither will it disappoint experienced users. Below: The Andro-Penis® is a penis extender which works using the principle of traction. Worn under loose clothing, or at night, for 3 to 9 hours a day for several months provides an increase in both length and girth of the penis. Regular use, while steadily increasing the length of the extendible rods, continuously stretches the penis which causes cellular multiplication in the penile tissue. Used by clinics and hospitals, the Andro-Penis is classified as a Type 1 Medical Device and holds European Health Certification (CE). It does take time to work out the correct length of rod combination to be a perfect fit, but once done it is pretty comfortable. You don't need to know anything about art to buy good work at reasonable prices. You just have to know your own mind, and look and look and look until you find something that makes your heart sing. 'Untitled No4'
The world's largest limited edition erotic orgy print (1.25m<sup>2</sup>) by Giulio Tambellini

Giulio Tambellini is a museum-collected artist showing for the first time at Erotica 2006. His art explores erotic interaction and possibilities across all sexual preferences.

A printmaker, bookbinder and photographer, Giulio explores these mediums to their breadth while producing original work on a grand scale.

At Erotica, Giulio is showing some conventional sized originals plus the large etching shown below. The work, loosely titled 'Bang', is line drawn (hand drawn onto a metal etching plate) then printed in an edition of 100 by the artist. It comprises of thousands of miniature intertwined figures in erotic embrace. A massive, humorous orgy, spanning 1.25m x 1.25m.

In addition to this large original etching, Giulio has hundreds of small figurative originals in the form of detailed paintings and drawings of tempters and temptresses in various forms of undress, as well as some 'series' portfolio sets and a signed photographic nude 2007 calendar. Look for 'Bang' in the Art Gallery.

the art of Claire de Lune

Vision Mandala

Visionary artist, Claire de Lune studied at Harrow School of Art and graduated with a BA (Hons) in Graphic Design. She spent the remainder of the '80s boom years working in London design studios, but became disillusioned with the excesses of the big city and quit design to embark on an adventure.

After travelling extensively, she returned to London. She studied physical and alternative therapies; anatomy and physiology; hypnotherapy and trance work techniques; worked with homeless communities and chaotic drug users; and became a sexual health specialist working with the capital's sex workers. Claire says of her work and her inspirations:

"I have worked with men and women from around the world, in London and in Africa, who are involved in the sex industry...and on that journey have learnt much about the light and the dark of the human condition. In generously sharing their life stories and experiences with me, the men and women I have worked with have enriched both my own life journey, and my understanding of human sexuality and desire. The erotic art that I create is a celebration of our bodies and of our spirits...and of the healing potential inherent within the joyful union of male and female forces.

"Having returned to the life of the full-time Artist, I now work in splendid isolation perched on top of a beautiful and ancient hill-side, where I draw upon my varied life experiences...and weave them together with my love of sacred geometry, symmetry, myth and magik to create the fire that fuels my work.

Tree of Life

"I am inspired by the mysteries, gods and goddesses, tantra, the archetypal workings of the subconscious, plant teachers, and the wonderful world of the imagination. I am artist, dreamer, visioner, healer and psychonaut.

"I work predominantly within the round, creating circular art and mandalas. Each piece is a personal journey into spirit, and a powerful tool for reflection, contemplation and meditation. Through my skill as creator each work appears to embody symmetry and perfection. Yet, in truth, the image is as flawed and imperfect as the human hand that wrought it. Its beauty and power is infused with this magical duality and illusion. All of my black and white works are executed in pen and

Erotica, by definition, is 'literature or art intended to stimulate sexual desire' and as such is often labelled as crude. Certainly, some pieces do raise eyebrows, but others are simply stunning examples of artists' studies in love and appreciation of the human form expressed in watercolour, oil, pencil, photography or sculpture.

The Guild of Erotic Artists was formed in 2002 to act as a platform for artists of erotic work to interact with each other and the public. The Guild promotes a more tolerant appreciation of the human body with a perennial exhibition of erotic art by both new and established artists. This non-profit making movement of motivated artists has grown steadily since and now boasts 160 members.

The Guild's home – once a 15th century monastery in the Hertfordshire countryside – is now an open plan art gallery and interactive working space called Beaumont Hall Studios. ## pewtiful sculpture

Due to popular demand, artist Ken Clarke is now producing his fabulous body casts and figurines in pewter. Wall mounted sculptures originate from Ken's body casting of a live model. Figurines are first hand sculpted in clay. Sculptures are cast in a special high density resin and thermal plated with lead-free pewter. A remould is taken from each piece, and finished pewter casts are produced which are hand polished and lacquered to preserve the brilliant metallic finish. Beautiful works of art with the look, weight and cold feel of solid metal.

At monthly demonstrations at The Studios the public can meet the artists and their models and are encouraged to participate. The Guild also takes their show 'on the road' regularly attending exhibitions – Erotica being the largest for erotic art in this country.

The energy and enthusiasm created by The Guild members, is infectious. Recent TV shoots for Granada 'Men & Motors' and Playboy TV in the USA show how enthusiastic they are. Live demonstrations are informal yet powerful, electric but always focused. A show within a show – they are not to be missed. Using their own models, the artists become showmen as they feature bodycasting, photography, sketches and painting. You will not see this at the Tate Gallery!

All the Guild artists and photographers undertake private commissions and all requests are dealt with confidentially. Visit Beaumont Hall Studios, the home of Erotic Art and the home of The Guild of Erotic Artists. Check the website for regular monthly event dates and exhibition venues.

ART

You may have spotted this year's Erotica ad campaign on London Underground posters – lovely black and white shots of a couple in interesting positions (above right).

We caught up with the man responsible, Dave Ayerst Davies and asked him about his life and work.

Born in Brussels, Belgium, in 1956, Dave has a BSc in Physics and Electronics from Brunel University. His specialist photographic areas are: motorsports, fashion, glamour and art-nudes. He is a PADI qualified diver prepared to shoot underwater to a depth of 18m. He has become an expert in image retouching and pre-print processing with Adobe Photoshop. He also designs websites and does some communications and software consultancy.

'My aim is to capture images that provoke thought as well as please the eye. I tend to prefer simplicity of subject and background. Monochrome images have a timeless atmosphere. Colour is often a distraction from the subject. Black and white images give the emphasis to form. Light and shade define shapes rather than hue. I prefer natural/available light if possible. It gives a more real and natural result. And being outdoors inspires me. When I'm travelling I can't pass a beautiful background without imagining a gorgeous model in the foreground. Nature provides us with beauty in landscape, light and the curves of the human body. The less technology you add to that the better.

'Motorsport is a real passion for me. My first serious photography was documenting my brother's motorsport career in the 70s. My sports photography trained me to work fast and keep a momentum going in the studio or on location. The swooping lines of racecars do echo the curves of beautiful women, but the technique of shooting them could not be more different. Motorsports require you to stand 50 yards from your subject with a 500mm lens that weighs more than 25lbs and shoot cars going at speeds of up to 250mph. It's a bit like shooting skeet with a rocket launcher.

'Beautiful women are generally more compliant and take direction better. The equipment required is less bulky and the whole experience more relaxed. I have a few regular models that I've built a rapport with. I love to work with models who are imaginative – who can take your idea and add something new. That's when real magic happens. I like to start with a small idea and grow it with the model and the environment.

'The texture of skin and the quality of light are completely different underwater. It gives a unique effect. The body and face are supported underwater so shapes are different too. Clothing

scarlet

Packed with sexy semi-naked men, true confessions, forthright sex articles, lingerie to lust over and erotic literature (aptly named Cliterature), Scarlet is the first magazine catering to female sexuality in the same way that men's magazines have been looking after the boys for years. November's issue features the lovely Dita Von Teese and the Housework Calendar Boys. Scarlet has campaigned for the eroticism of safe sex and championed women's right to be any size they like and still be sexy. Indeed, Scarlet is the only women's glossy to be 100 per cent diet-free guaranteed. Buy a copy to feel good about yourself and sexier than ever.

desire

An erotic magazine for women and men, Desire dishes up a lively mix of seductive photography and art, arousing features, the hottest sex fantasies, plus reviews of adult DVDs and books. This glossy, award-winning magazine for both sexes guarantees to banish bedroom boredom! The latest issue explores bondage and edgy sexplay, enters a virtual sex world, goes behind the closed doors of elegant Paris brothels, and takes you on a trip to London's raunchiest all-nighter. So make sure you get your copy of the latest issue of Desire at a specially-reduced show price.

skin two...

First published in 1984, SKIN TWO is the original and still the best magazine dedicated to all things fetish. Appearing several times per year, the interim is punctuated by a free paper, SKIN TWO Latextra, and rounded off with the annual SKIN TWO Directory – the fetishists' bible. With over 1500 listings of businesses and individuals worldwide, Directory entries are categorised under: Nightlife, Societies, Photographers, Art, Publications, Services, Bondage/SM/Toys, Products, Clothing, and Online.

'I don't have the slightest desire to hurt you. Torture you, yes. Hurt you, no.'

Jay Wiseman, SM101

SKIN TWO is sold at Borders, Tower Records, fetish shops and via mail order.

Not only do SKIN TWO report on fetish fashion, but they have their own clothing line too – predominantly latex, of course.

SKIN TWO Rubber Ball, a fabulous charity fetish party, now with cocktail party and expo, lasts an entire weekend each October and has become an annual institution in London, from which many of our exhibitors are still recovering. And if that's not enough, these tireless party people have now hosted two Rubber Balls at Sydney University in Australia.

Check out SKIN TWO's online operation – perhaps the fastest growing fetish community on the web. And this year Skin Two launched their first feature film, London Fetish Girls (see right).

Grab a magazine or DVD at Stand C44 and check out SKIN Two clothing at Stand C40

contacts

And if you're up for meeting lots of adult pleasure-seekers, then you'll find hundreds of like-minded couples and singles in Desire's sister magazine, Desire Contacts. It's the UK's leading swingers' magazine, packed with contact ads with photographs from couples, women and men, and a pictorial preview of European-style swinging. Desire Contacts also has a directory of swing clubs nationwide, reports from hot venues and insider tips for successful networking. And you can pick up a copy of the latest issue of Desire Contacts at Erotica at a bargain show price. Stand B42

Housework 2007 calendar

Take 12 sexy guys strip them naked make them clean your house then hang them on the wall ...all in aid of breast cancer research

The 2007 Housework calendar is every woman's dream (and quite a few men's too, I shouldn't wonder). Beautifully shot images of twelve fit sexy men, doing all the horrible household chores wearing nothing but a smile. The Housework boys wash up, polish mirrors, clean the bath, load the washing machine, do the ironing and wash the car. The photographs are sensual, but tasteful – you can't see any intimate body parts.

The Housework calendar was produced by London photographer, Jonathan Bayley. A Member of the British Institute of Professional Photographers, Bayley runs Urban Photography, based in trendy Spitalfields. He specialises in photographing athletic men of different ethnic origins for a number of women's magazines and leading websites. Urban Photography is rapidly gaining a reputation as a leading London studio for male photography.

One day during a shoot, a model went to make some coffee and realised there were no clean cups. So, he started washing up, completely naked – and the idea for the Housework calendar was born. Sales of the calendar are supporting leading breast cancer charities. For each copy sold, at least £1 is donated to charity. Launched at the Autumn Trade Fair, at the NEC in September, just before Breast Cancer Awareness month in October, the calendar generated donations of over £1,000 for Cancer Research UK.

Housework is available to buy at www.HouseworkCalendar.com, priced £9.95 plus postage. Visitors to the site can also visit the free gallery, featuring a wide range of Bayley's work, and also see the amount raised by calendar sales so far, and which charities have received donations.

... now on dvd

Film London Fetish Girls is an hour and a half of stylish and erotic lesbian BDSM, starring the most famous fetish girls from the London scene, with guest star Emily Marilyn from Hollywood. See Emily with Rita Rush in the medical room. Watch strapon Jane dominate Saffy in a real underground dungeon deep below

London's West End. Join Lydia Morgan, Morrigan Hel, Valeria Dragova, Red, Jamie Brooks and Carla Hamilton, using suspension, strap-on dildos, bondage, industrial strength vibrators and more in a loft apartment high above Docklands by night.

Produced by Tim Woodward and directed by Elizabeth Bennet, with original music by Mark Fielding. The DVD contains four scenes and also a bonus feature of still photos from the film set. An essential for fetishists this Christmas!

Franchise

EROTICA is the largest adult lifestyle event in Europe, and probably the world. A three day entertainment and shopping experience for free-thinking adults who are comfortable with their sexuality. Erotica attracts nearly 80,000 visitors a year. It boasts the highest footfall per square metre of any exhibition staged at Olympia, London's premiere event arena, outperforming even established events such as The Ideal Home Show and The London Boat Show.

The only event in the UK to hold a 'sex shop' licence, its key to success is that, unlike the sex industry in general, it is targeted at the mind – not the body. As a result, Erotica is unique in attracting as many women as men, making it truly accessible to couples and singles.

The event, which has been successfully staged 14 times, is the brainchild of Savvas Christodoulou, a professional entrepreneur unconnected with the adult entertainment industry, and is run as a business and profit-making enterprise. Having proven its business model, Erotica is now seeking franchisees to take the concept overseas. For a combination of downpayment and royalties, Erotica is offering a comprehensive marketing and operational plan, together with ongoing support.

- Interested parties should apply for a Franchise Pack

ID Pleasure

ID Pleasure is an arousing water based lubricant containing a special natural ingredient - red clover. Red clover grows wild in meadows across Europe and has been used for centuries as a feminine, centring herb. Perfect for a spot of wanton lust then.

In a unique combination with ginko biloba and menthol, ID Pleasure increases blood flow to the genital areas for toe-curling orgasms. Women report heightened sensation and a tantalising tingling while men enjoy firmer erections and cooling sensations. Long lasting and latex compatible. Available from ID Lube, Stand E30

With over eight years experience on the fetish scene.

We bring our unique equipment, designed and crafted in-house.

Exciting clothes for all sizes.

Eye-opening demonstrations and workshops.
